The sky has turned a robin's blue,
 The sun is bright and golden, too
 The children's cheeks are apple red,
 And the clouds are rosy overhead.

And why this fine and bright display?
 Why all these colors this March day?
 Sure, and the colors shout they mean
 To match the wearing of the green!

The branches of the trees are singing,
 Birds up in the sky are winging,
 The river hums a merry tune,
 And even the rocks start dancing soon.

Now why such merry revelry?
 Why the cause of all this glee?
 Sure, and it's easy to be seen
 They're matching the wearing of the green!

A note from our Resident Council President

Hi All,
We are finally out of Outbreak on the Long Term Care side - Huzzah! It was quite a few months for them, so we're glad to see business as usual across the board coming into March.

Reminder, Daylight Savings occurs this month, so we're all going to lose an hour of sleep to the time shift.

What a great way to ring in the hopefully less snowy weather!

We have a whole selection of new programs that we will be trying out on 3rd Floor this month, so we hope you will come up and join us if interested! Once the snow has melted and we potentially will not get any further snow, the Lower Level Patio Doors will be open per their usual hours from Spring until Winter once again. Please check the doors on Lower Level for the signage stating their open hours!
